Student Seminar- Under Participative Teaching Method

Report

Topic - Female Feticide

Date-17/09/2025

The Department of Sociology organized student seminar under participative teaching method on 17th September 2025. Among the major social evils in India, Female Feticide is one of the most alarming. It refers to the practice of aborting a fetus just because it is female. Rooted in patriarchal values, dowry system, and preference for a male child, this practice has created a serious imbalance in society. Considering the seriousness of this issue, the Department of Sociology organized a seminar on Female Feticide for B.A. Part I students.

Objectives of the Seminar

1. To create awareness among students about the issue of female feticide.
2. To understand the patriarchal mindset behind gender bias.

The seminar highlighted that Female Feticide is not only a women's issue but a threat to society as a whole. Through this program, students became aware of the seriousness of the problem and the need for collective efforts to eradicate this practice.

Outcome:

To establish equality between man and women
